

BREATHABLE POLYMER FOAMS

ABSTRACT

5

A continuous method for making porous foams and the foam articles are described. The method allows for tailoring the porosity of the foam by controlling process variables including draw rate and blowing agent concentration. A method for co-extruding the foams with other materials is also described.